About the Property

Step into a home where sustainability meets modern living! This thoughtfully designed property is perfect for anyone seeking comfort, savings, and a lighter ecological footprint. The home operates as a seamless hybrid of gas, electric, and solar energy, giving you the flexibility and efficiency to live greener without compromising convenience. One of the standout features? The solar energy system is fully owned—no leases, no contracts, just pure savings from day one. It's an investment in the future, already taken care of for you. As if that weren't enough, the home is contracted and fully paid to have its exterior professionally painted and refreshed, ensuring it will look as stunning on the outside as it feels on the inside. And when it's time to unwind, you'll find a true o …
